This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

THE BRITISH WAR MISSION IN THE UNITED STATES

The introduction to the first issue of the "Who's Who in the British War Mission" gave an account of the formation of the Mission by the combination under one head of the various departmental and other missions which had been sent to the United States, and described the growth of the various departments of the Mission up to November, 1917.

In that month it was announced that the Earl of Reading, Lord Chief Justice of England, had been appointed Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary on Special Mission and also High Commissioner in the United States. As Ambassador he succeeded Sir Cecil Spring Rice, whose failing health soon after culminated in his greatly regretted death. By this appointment the British Diplomatic and Consular services in the United States and the whole of the British War Missions were placed under the same head. Lord Reading arrived in America in February, 1918.

Viscount Northcliffe, who had arrived in the United States as Chairman of the British War Mission on June 10th, 1917, returned to England on November 3rd of that year. On Lord Reading's appointment as High Commissioner Lord Northcliffe became Chairman of the London branch of the Mission, now situated at Crewe House.

The general organisation of the British War Mission at the present time is shown in the diagrams annexed.

The detailed organisation and the names of the principal officers are given separately for each department of the Mission on pages xiii to xxvii. It is proposed to give here a brief summary of the functions and relations of the different branches.

FINANCE

Sir Hardman Lever, K.C.B., Financial Secretary to the Treasury, is Assistant Commissioner for Finance. He is charged with the interests of the British Treasury in the United States and is the adviser of the High Commissioner in financial matters. He is assisted by Mr. Basil Blackett, C.B.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

Sir Henry Babington Smith, K.C.B., C.S.I., acts as Assistant Commissioner in relation to the other departments of the Mission (other than the Military departments). The central office of the British War Mission in Washington is in the Munsey Building, Pennsylvania Avenue, and the office in New York is at 120 Broadway, Suite 2147, under the charge of Captain Kenneth Henderson, O.B.E.

The departments of the Mission, other than the Military Missions, fall into three main groups, dealing with WAR SUPPLIES, FOODSTUFFS, and SHIPPING respectively; and there are some special Departments which are outside these groups.

DEPARTMENT OF WAR SUPPLIES

The Department of War Supplies was constituted in May, 1918, to co-ordinate the various branches dealing with the purchase and supply of munitions of war and materials required for war purposes. It is under the charge of Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., Director-General of War Supplies and Representative of the Minister of Munitions. It is mainly concerned with purchases and other business on behalf of the Ministry of Munitions, but it also acts for the Admiralty, the War Office, the Air Ministry and the Board of Trade (Timber Controller), and occasionally for other British Departments.

The Washington office of the Department of War Supplies is not only the office of the Director-General, but also deals with many matters requiring communication with the different departments of the United States Government, such as the supply and control of raw materials, the issue of Export Licenses, etc.

The other branches composing the Department of War Supplies are as follows:

AERONAUTICAL SUPPLY DEPARTMENT Director, Brigadier-General Cormack, C.M.G. (Office, Washington, Munsey Building.) This department deals with the supply from the United States of air craft of all kinds, and of engines, parts, materials and equipment needed for air craft.

TIMBER SUPPLY Lieut.-Colonel Beckett represents the Timber Controller (Board of Trade), as Director of Timber Supply. He acts as adviser in connection with the purchase of timber on Government account, and, in particular, of timber for airplane construction, in co-operation with the Aeronautical Supply Department and the Purchasing Department.

ARTILLERY MISSION Director, Major-General Headlam, C.B., D.S.O. (Office, Room 232. H, Group B, 7th and B Streets, Washington.) This Mission, which was appointed by the Ministry of Munitions, deals with all questions relating to the supply of guns, machine guns, small arms, etc., from the United States, and also acts as a channel of communication between the Ministry of Munitions and the War Office on the one hand and the Military authorities in the United States on the other.

PURCHASING DEPARTMENT Director of Purchases, Mr. J. W. Woods. (Office, New York, 120 Broadway, Suite 1735.) This department negotiates the purchase of munitions and other war supplies and concludes the contracts for such purchases. Special officers, who are sent from time to time to purchase particular commodities, as for instance leather, act under or in communication with this department.

PRODUCTION AND STORES DEPARTMENT Director, Sir Henry Japp, K. B. E.. (Office, New York, 120 Broadway, Suite 1633.) The primary function of this department is to promote the rapid and efficient production of munitions by skilled advice and assistance. It records the progress of production and furnishes statistics. It also deals with the weighing and checking of consignments at the seaboard.

A section dealing with STORES ACCOUNTS, under Mr. Gerald Browne, has recently been added to this department. This section will act on behalf both of the Ministry of Munitions and of the other departments which make purchases through the British War Mission.

ACCOUNTS BRANCH A branch has recently been formed under Lieutenant Armour (New York, 120, Broadway, Room 1633,) for the purpose of recording and verifying expenditure in the United States on behalf of the Ministry of Munitions and other Departments.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN SUB-COMMITTEE The Anglo-Russian Sub-Committee (New York Equitable Building, 120, Broadway, Room 1745,) is the successor to the Anglo-Russian Committee formed in 1916 to deal with questions arising in regard to orders for shells and other war supplies placed by the British Government for the account of the Russian Government.

The present members of the Committee, Lt.-Colonel J. Giffard and Lt.-Colonel F. W. Abbot (Deputy Member, Mr. T. Sivewright Catto, C.B.E.), are now engaged, for the main part, in composing the difficulties incidental to the settlement of outstanding contracts and in arranging for the ultimate destination of the balance of orders not yet delivered.

INSPECTION DEPARTMENT Director, Brigadier-General Kenyon, C.B. (Office, New York, 165 Broadway, Suite 2800.) This department deals with the inspection of munitions and raw materials for the Ministry of Munitions and for other Departments. It forms part of the Department of War Supplies; but, as regards inspection, it acts directly under the instructions of the Inspection Department of the Ministry of Munitions or other Ministry interested in the purchase. It has resident officers in the chief centres of munition production.

FOOD:—PROVISIONS The British Ministry of Food is represented in the United States by Sir Guy Granet (Office, New York, 165 Broadway, Room 401), who has also been appointed to represent the Inter-Allied Food Council Committee of Representatives. The purchase of foodstuffs other than cereals, viz., hog products, butter, cheese, lard, canned provisions, etc., is conducted by the Allied Provisions Export Commission on behalf of France and Italy as well as of the United Kingdom. Sir Guy Granet is Chairman of this Commission. The executive work is under the charge of Mr. Dalziel, Mr. Catto, C.B.E., and Mr. Piercy.

SUGAR The Royal Commission on Sugar ha been represented in New York by Si Joseph White Todd, Bart., and in his absence by Mı Bruce, of the Royal Bank of Canada, who also represent the Sugar division of the Canada Food Board. It will ii future be represented by Sir Guy Granet.

WHEAT EXPORT COMPANY The purchase of wheat and other cereal: in the United States and Canada on behal: of the Allies is conducted by the Wheat Export Company, acting for the Wheat Executive, an Inter-Allied body which sits in London. The Wheat Export Company (Chairman, Mr. H. T. Robson; Office, New York, 27 Beaver Street,) acts in close co-operation with the United States Food Controller and also with French and Italian representatives. For reasons of convenience, the organisation of an incorporated company was adopted in this case; but the Company operates, in effect, as an official administration, and without profit.

SHIPPING & TRANSPORT The representative of the British Shipping Controller in the United States is Sir Thomas Royden, Bart. The New York office of the British Ministry of Shipping, (165 Broadway), was until May, 1918, under the charge of Sir Connop Guthrie, K.B.E. Sir Connop Guthrie was appointed by the United States Government in February, 1918, to be a member of the American Shipping Control Committee. The importance of his work in this latter capacity made it necessary that he should be relieved of the direction of the British Shipping office, and in May, 1918, it was placed under the charge of Mr. T. Ashley Sparks (General Manager in New York and Director of the Cunard Line) as Director General, assisted by Mr. Boyd, as Deputy Director General. Sir Connop Guthrie was, at the same time, designated Special Representative of the Shipping Controller in the United States.

This office is responsible for the arrangements for shipping all Government supplies from the United States, whether munitions, foodstuffs, or raw materials, and it directs, under the Ministry of Shipping, all British shipping in United States ports. It also supervises the land transport of the above-mentioned supplies from their place of origin to the seaboard. It works in close relation to the Inter-Allied Traffic Executive, upon which the interests of France and Italy, as well as those of Great Britain, are represented.

The British Ministry of Shipping is represented in Washington by Captain Fisher, R.N., who is also attached to the British Embassy for matters relating to shipping.

PETROLEUM SUPPLIES

The Oil Executive, the body which is responsible for the supplies of fuel oil, and other petroleum products required for the Admiralty, War Office, Air Board and Board of Trade, has been represented in New York by Sir Frederick Black, K.C.B., working in close co-operation with the Ministry of Shipping (Office 165 Broadway, New York). Sir Frederick Black having returned to England, his place is taken by Mr. Hewan.

INFORMATION

The British Bureau of Information (Mr. Geoffrey Butler, C.B.E.; Office, New York, 511 Fifth Avenue), represents the British Ministry of Information and facilitates the supply of war news for the American press. It also makes arrangements for British lecturers and speakers visiting the United States.

The British Pictorial Service acts as an agency fo supplying photographs, etc., connected with the war fo use in the press and also films for use in picture house and forms part of the Bureau of Information.

INLAND DOCKS & WATERWAYS The Department of Inland Docks a Waterways, under Lieutenant-Colone Owen, has its headquarters at Montreal (609 Drummon Building). It deals with the recruiting of personnel an the supply of material for inland navigation, etc.

DEPARTMENTAL FINANCE Mr. J. G. O'Keeffe (821 Drummon Building, Montreal) is in charge of th payment of the whole of the expenditures of the Britisl Remount Commission and of certain other War Office Services, and of the salaries and allowances of a number o other Departments of the British War Mission.

NAVAL MISSIONS The greater part of the work connected with Naval matters in the United States is conducted by officers under the orders of Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant, K.C.B., Commander in Chief of the North America and West Indies Station. These form part of the regular Naval Services and are therefore not included under the head of British Missions.

There are, however, certain services which should be mentioned here.

NAVAL ATTACHÉ Captain A. L. Snagge, R.N., is Naval Attaché to the British Embassy. He advises the Ambassador in Naval matters and collects and transmits Naval Intelligence.

NAVAL CONTROL OFFICER Captain O. M. Makins (Office, Room 730, Custom House, New York), acts under the direct orders of the Admiralty in matters relating to the Control of Neutral Shipping.

NAVAL ORDNANCE INSPECTION

Commander A. H. Tremayne, R.N. (Office—Bethlehem, Pennsylvania) is in charge of the Inspection of Naval Ordnance on behalf of the Admiralty.

MILITARY MISSIONS

In addition to the Military services under the supervision of the Military Attache, Special Military Missions for various purposes connected with the war have been established in the United States.

HEADQUARTERS BRITISH MILITARY MISSIONS

In May, 1918, Lieutenant-General Bridges, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. (with staff officers) was sent on a Special Mission to the United States. He acted as adviser to the Ambassador in Military matters, and also exercised a general supervision over all British Military Missions in America. He returned to England in July 1918.

BRITISH MILITARY ATTACHE

The Military Attaché (Major-General MacLachlan, C.B., D.S.O.) collects and transmits military information and intelligence and advises the Ambassador in military matters. He deals with the military control side of applications for passports and advises on questions of Postal Censorship.

BRITISH MILITARY MISSION (TRAINING)

The Military Training Mission advises on questions of training, and has a large personnel for instruction in particular branches. It has its head office in Washington under Brigadier-General Trotter.

BRITISH REMOUNT COMMISSION

The Remount Commission deals with all questions of supply and shipment of animals. It has its headquarters at Montreal, (622 Drummond Building) under Brigadier-General Sir Charles Gunning, Bart, C.B.

BRITISH RECRUITING MISSION

The British & Canadian Recruiting Mis sion has charge of all matters dealing wit the enlistment of British subjects in th United States, and with questions of exemption fron service in the British Army. It has its headquarters a New York (Office, 511 Fifth Avenue) under Brigadier General White, C.B., C.M.G., and branches at a numbe of places in the United States.

AVIATION MISSIONS

The Aviation (Training) Mission, unde Brigadier-General Lee, is in charge of al officers sent to assist in the training of Aviators ir America.

A special Mission, to deal with aviation matters, was sent to America in June, 1918. It consisted of Major General Brancker, Director-General of Equipment at the Air Ministry, Sir Henry Fowler, K.B.E., and Lieutenant-Colonel the Master of Sempill.

LONDON BRANCH

The London office of the Mission, which came into being when Lord Reading took up his duties in the United States, is now established at Crewe House, Curzon Street, Mayfair. Viscount Northcliffe acts as Chairman, and he is assisted by Lieut.-Colonel Sir Campbell A. Stuart, K.B.E.

CHANGES

Frequent modifications in the constitution of the Mission are necessary in order to provide for the constantly changing requirements which arise from the War. For instance, a new branch to deal with Mechanical Warfare is now in course of formation.

The Military Service Convention, which brings British subjects in the United States under the operation of the Draft Law, necessarily puts an end to the activities of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission. That mission will, therefore, be withdrawn in the near future.
